Original publisher: Arlington, Va. : National Science Foundation, National Science Board, 2007 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)212738466 Subject: Engineering -- Study and teaching (Higher) -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Moving Forward to Improve Engineering Education research activities at universities. Studies indicate that REU experiences increase interest in STEM careers and that RET experiences give teachers a better understanding of engineering and increase teacher motivation and condence in teaching math and science. In addition, NSF addresses the issue of aThordability through its graduate fellowship and traineeship programs, which include Integrative Graduate Education and Research Traineeships (IGERT), Graduate Teaching Fellows in K-12 Education (GK-12), and Graduate Research Fellowships. Although these programs are generally viewed as being eThective and helpful, they have not led to systematic changes in perceptions and retention of engineers. Moreover, best practices resulting from the programs are not readily disseminated throughout the engineering education community. With its unique role in engineering education and research, crosscutting all educational levels and the workforce, NSF is perfectly situated to take on leadership in pursuing solutions to the issues raised at the two workshops. ffie...
